

LOUISIANA KLAN DISROBES DURING PROBE OF MURDER

Branch Disintegrates Through Fear Of Arrest And Prosecutions.

TORCH IS APPLIED TO HOODS, RECORDS

Fear Mere Membership In Klan Would Be Cause For Indictments.

Bastrop, La., Dec. 29.—Disintegration of the local branch of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan through fear of wholesale arrests and prosecution of members as a result of a governmental and state investigation into the kidnapping and murder of W. A. Daniels and Thomas Richards last August, was the gist of reports which ran rapid today through all Moorehouse parish.

These reports had it that the Klan men of this parish have silently disintegrated at the orders of Exalted Cyclops J. K. Skipworth and that the members have agreed to keep locked behind their own lips the identity of every member.

Persons who once spoke freely of "100 per cent Americanism" are now silent. Persons who are said to have taken the law into their own hands so far as Moorehouse parish is concerned were too liberal in their threats of thrashings and warnings to "leave this community immediately."

One prominent planter of this district closely concerned with activities of the Klan stated that members at Spyker held a solemn meeting Sunday night at the command of the Exalted Cyclops. Some 20 or 40 members met in the stillness of the Louisiana darkness and set fire to their robes and all other evidence that might show they were ever connected with the Klan.

Burn "Evidence"
Letters, records, hoods—all went up in smoke to prevent evidence in what promises to be one of the most sensational probes in the history of the country.

Spyker is the home of T. J. Burnett, the first man to be arrested on the charge of murder in connection with the outrage last summer and is reported to be a veritable hotbed of Klan activities. Burnett has denied that he is a member of the Klan.

Klan members, it was said, speculated on the possibility that mere membership in the Klan would be cause for indictment as an accessory to the murder, provided it can be proven that Klan members had a part in the brutal assault on Daniels and Richards.

While the defense is clamoring for immediate action the state is making every effort to have the hearings postponed until after the open hearing on Jan. 5. Attorney General Cocco has declared evidence will be disclosed here which will turn the strongest Klan sympathizers against that organization and thereby turn public opinion towards the state.

FIVE ROADS MERGE IN CLEVELAND DEAL

Cleveland, Dec. 29.—Consolidation of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis (Nickel Plate), the Chicago & State Line, the Lake Erie & Western, Fort Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville, and the Toledo St. Louis & Western (Cleveland Leaf) was approved by the boards of directors of the five roads, representing an authorized capitalization of $105,500,000 and operating 1,856 miles of railroad, W. A. Colston, vice president and general counsel of the Nickel Plate announced. The directors of the roads in the consolidation, sometimes referred to as the "Van Sweringen lines," approved and executed an agreement for the unification of the five roads into a single corporation to be known as the "New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad company," and directed submission of the agreement and articles of consolidation to meetings of stockholders of the several companies.

Teachers Opposing Arbuckle Pictures

Columbus, Dec. 29.—Vigorous opposition to the exhibition of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle motion pictures was registered at the mid-winter meeting of the Ohio State Teachers Association here. Resolutions, almost unanimously adopted, oppose admission to Ohio of future Arbuckle films.

Safe In Dentist's Office Is Robbed

Dr. Hawkins Discovers Loss Of Gold And War Savings Stamps.

Breaking open a small cabinet safe in the office of Dr. G. J. Hawkins, Salem dentist, Main st., thieves late Monday night or early Tuesday morning secured a quantity of gold and War Savings stamps valued at more than $100, it developed today.

The theft was not discovered until later in the week according to Dr. Hawkins who reported the matter to the police department. The safe was not in daily use and it was not until the dentist attempted to open the cabinet to get a quantity of the gold that the loss was discovered.

The gold stored in the safe is used in fillings and castings for teeth. Dr. Hawkins reported finding small amount of liquid resembling nitroglycerine in the door of the safe when he attempted to open it.

The police are working on the case.

Turns Million Dollar A Year Business Over To Employees

Dress Manufacturing Plant Given Employees As Reward For Faithful Service—Owner Reduces Salary To 50 Cents, Loans Men $250,000.

New York, Dec. 29.—The factory run by and for its employees functioned smoothly the first day.

It was the plant formerly owned by Henry A. Dix, millionaire employer of New York and Millville, N. J., who announced that he would turn his $1,000,000 a year dress manufacturing business over to the workers as a reward for their faithful service and who put the announcement in effect yesterday.

He reduced his own salary at the same time from $50,000 to 50 cents annually. He also loaned the employees $250,000 cash capital with which to carry on the business. They are to pay for the blocks of stock they receive out of the future profits of the business.

"The solution of the labor problem in the United States is not entirely perhaps, but very largely in the hands of employers," Mr. Dix said today.

"And the solution, as I see it, is this: Treat your employees fairly, remember they are just human beings like yourself and that without them your business success would be impossible."

"It is all simple enough, when you come to look at it. It is nothing more than the practical application of the golden rule.

"And with it, in my case, go the love and thoughtfulness for the well-being and aid of others as they came from the soul of a woman—my wife, who died three years ago, for it was she who guided and advised me in whatever I have been able to do for the welfare of others."

"I and my family have been termed 'cranks' heretofore, by many business men, large employers of labor themselves, for giving away, as they termed it, money and charitable and educational gifts which have come chiefly through the earnings of my business."

"In answering them I have pointed out that unless it had been for those employees, my firm would have made no profits and I would have been in no position to have given them a dollar."

"The trouble with employers today is they give too much thought to the profits they hope to make, to the repair of a leak in the roof of one of their buildings, perhaps, or to some other less essential and not enough to the welfare of the people who made their success possible."

BORAH'S FRIENDS ASSAIL PARLEY

Would Embroil America In European Controversy Says Johnson.

Washington, Dec. 29.—With caustic denunciation and stinging irony, two of the former associates of Senator Borah in the historic league of nations battle—Senators Moses of New Hampshire and Johnson of California this afternoon poured the vials of their disapproval upon Borah's proposal for a world economic and disarmament conference.

"I am against it," said Johnson, "because in even greater degree, and with less safeguards than the league of nations gave to us, it would embroil us in a European controversy, and finally make the United States after 150 years, a part of the European system."

For the United States to attempt to sit in the European game, Moses declared, would mean it would have to act as umpire between England and Belgium on one side and France and Italy on the other in the reparations muddle.

"Our national game," he said, "daily demonstrates the uncomfortable position the empire occupies. I have no desire to see Uncle Sam beamed by a pop bottle thrown from the European bleachers."

PAINTERS ELECT LITTY PRESIDENT

Officers for the ensuing year were chosen by Local No. 722, Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, Thursday evening. Here they are:

President Robert Litty; vice president, Everett Rich; recording secretary, Herbert Hutcheson; financial secretary, A. R. Talbot; treasurer, A. W. Stiver.

They will be installed at a session in two weeks. A social period with lunch and music followed the meeting.

Church Would Borrow $2,500 For Property

Grant Elton, J. D. Paxson and Milan Heastand, trustees of the First Friends' church of Salem, have asked the permission of common pleas court to borrow $2,500 with which to complete the payment of the purchase price of a part of lot 38 in Salem, recently purchased by the church.

Premier Asquith May Come As Ambassador

London, Dec. 29.—Former Premier Herbert H. Asquith may succeed Sir Auckland Geddes as British ambassador to Washington, The Daily Express reported today.

Belief is growing that the United States will extend her participation in European affairs.

Non-Church Goers Start Crusade To Save Town's Soul

Nyack, N. Y., Dec. 29.—A crusade to "save the soul" of this thriving town is under way today.

Strange to say it was inaugurated by non-church goers.

A little group of prosperous residents, not exactly noted for their religious leanings, decided that the times were growing so bad that action was necessary.

They retained solicitors to visit 500 non-church going families to ask all to join some church.

STUDENTS GUESTS AT TRAIN PARTY

Novel Event At Christian Church Prepared By Three Classes.

Honor the college students and others of their associates who are home for the Christmas and New Year's vacation, members of the Clay classes and the McCurdy class of the Christian church held one of the most brilliant parties in their history Thursday night at the church.

The large assembly room on the first floor was arranged to resemble a train with its traveling coaches and the guests were given a trip, after being presented with railroad tickets. The stopping places were: "Singing Valley," "Bowling Alley," "Gossip Town," "Dizzy Heights," and "Garden of Eatin'." Appropriate stunts and novelties added interest to each of the stops.

At the final stopping place, "Garden of Eatin'," the guests found that they had reached the second floor of the church which had taken on the appearance of a first class roof garden. The room was completely hidden by elaborate decorations. The ceiling was concealed in a mass of tinsel streamers and lights were furnished by artistic lanterns and shaded lamps ornamenting the tables. The varicolored lights, the glitter of tinsel and a wealth of evergreens made the scene one of unusual beauty. Luncheon was served here.

At the close of the happy event the guests were directed to the suburb of "Grab-all," where a melting pot of assorted gifts had been placed. These gifts were purchased at a price limit of 25 cents and when unwrapped provided great amusement.

Damascus Teams Play Extra Period To Tie

Damascus High school girls defeated the Alumni Girls' basketball team at the Quaker Motor garage building Thursday night, by a score of 3 to 1.

In the game played between the boys High school team and the alumni at Damascus Thursday night, two quarters were played over time and the game was called with a tie score of 35-35.

COUNTY'S SCHOOLS COST MILLION FOR YEARLY OPERATION

Million And Half In Bonds Outstanding At Close Of Fiscal Year.

The annual financial report of County Auditor Charles E. Hamilton for the various school districts of the county for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, last, shows that the various school boards, both rural and municipal received $6,379.38 from state funds.

There was also paid by the state to Columbiana county for vocational education purposes $1,116.80.

School funds obtained through county tax levy totaled $872,704.17, of which $572,936.70 came from township, municipal and district sources, and $300,667.47 was received from county source.

For tuition purposes, there was paid into the school treasury $39,174.86.

School funds were enriched during the fiscal term to the amount of $79,628.04 from fines and penalties, gifts, bequests, contributions, rents, and tuition fees from patrons.

From loans and land sales, there was added to the school funds during the year $437,151.39 and from the sale of property, and insurance adjustments $2713.56. From other non-revenue sources the various school funds received during the fiscal term $20,093.52.

When the fiscal year closed, there was a balance in the various district school funds $256,074.44, and the whole amount available for school purposes during the old year has been placed at $1,714,946.97.

The various boards of education in the county spent during the old term for requirements of the office of the secretary, $7,479.75. Officers in charge of buildings and supplies spent $19,233.00 and throughout the county the various boards of education spent only $23.04 for legal services.

There was required during the old fiscal year $29,162.28 for the salaries of school superintendents and their offices while for compulsory education purposes, enforcement of truancy laws and census enumeration, there was spent last year $2,554.57. Other expenditures were $11.

CAUSE OF MARKET FIRE IS MYSTERY

No cause for the fire which gutted the Broadway market shortly before midnight Wednesday has been discovered it was announced by Fire Chief Vincent Malloy following an investigation Thursday.

It is thought the flames originated under a counter in the rear of the store but the origin remains a mystery.

Workmen are engaged in clearing the debris and the store will be rebuilt immediately it was stated.

Pythian Sisters To Visit Berlin Center

A delegation from Friendship Temple No. 109, Pythian Sisters, will visit Berlin Center Friday evening to be guests of the temple there, intention to feature its meeting. Those going will meet at the hall at 6:30 o'clock and the trip will be made on the bus. Plans were made for the visit at a meeting of the temple Thursday evening.

STRANGLED WOMAN TO DEATH, NEGRO TELLS OFFICIALS

Confession Is Made 19 Hours After Discovery Of Body.

Orange, N. J., Dec. 29.—Ramon "Jersey Justice," swift and sure, today cast its sinister shadow on the quieting form of William E. Battles, 12-year-old negro, whose confession and indictment for first degree murder followed within 19 hours after the discovery of the body of his victim, Mrs. Charles F. Brigham, mother of three children, strangled to death in outrage by the negro.

Battles, in his confession, said he enticed Mrs. Brigham into the basement of his home, where he had hidden himself on the stairs. The woman died in heroic defense of her honor, while her three little children lay in an upstairs room.

The negro had been employed for the day to assist in cleaning windows. The slain woman's husband was today prostrated by grief.

No mail service for Monday, New Year's day, is the announcement of Postmaster George H. Mounts. City and rural carriers will make no deliveries and there will be no window service that day.

Longer Life, Lower Death Rate Since Pasteur's Day

NOTE—This is the third of a series of four articles on the life and discoveries of Louis Pasteur, written by Rev. H. H. Scott. The concluding article will be published tomorrow.

Pasteur found that the strength of microbes may be weakened from day to day, so that cultures may be made of differing strength. He began to inoculate with the weakest culture and to increase the strength at each successive treatment, until the patient is able to endure full strength. Then the patient is immune to disease.

The first application of the germ treatment of disease was in chicken cholera. France lost yearly 10 per cent of her fowls, and he reduced this to one per cent.

The second application was to anthrax, a sheep and cattle disease, called wool-combers disease, when

NEW YORK IN GRIP OF STORM MENACED BY LACK OF FUEL

Lines Leading To Freight Terminals Blocked By Heavy Snow.

New York, Dec. 29.—While New York shivered today in a 20-degree above zero weather, in the wake of the heaviest storm of the winter, the city was menaced with the worst fuel crisis in its history. There are only 48 hours' supply of coal on hand and snow has blocked many of the railway lines leading to the freight terminals where fuel is unloaded.

The storm began with a gale which swept all the eastern states, but particularly the Atlantic coast. Rain turned to sleet and sleet to snow.

Throughout the early part of the day a 60-mile wind whirled the snow in high drifts. The thermometer fell to 20 degrees above zero. One man was killed and many other persons were injured.

Railroad and street traffic were badly crippled and thousands of commuters were late for work.

The deep slush which lined the streets froze over, making traffic dangerous. Hospitals were busy caring for persons injured in falls.

Steamship traffic was halted by the fog, snow and high winds.

Four vessels laden with liquor—units of the "bootleg fleet" off the coast—were washed ashore and their cargoes lost.

Three thousand street cleaners and 400 plows were put at work clearing the chief business thoroughfares.

Officials of the public health department and the fuel administration were greatly alarmed over the coal famine. They feared that continued cold weather would lead to an epidemic of sickness.

The reserve coal supply was put at 62,000 tons, enough to supply the demand for about two days.

PACKERS MERGER DEAL COMPLETED

Chicago, Dec. 29.—Final details involving consolidation of Armour & Co. and Morris Co., are practically completed. An official announcement bearing upon the merger is expected at any time.

Meanwhile bankers for J. Ogden Armour are arranging for the marketing of $110,000,000 of the securities of the new subsidiary Armour & Co., of Delaware.

He concluded the test May 31, 1881, amid crowds of farmers, scientists and journalists. He gave the wild virus to the protected, and the unprotected sheep. The half that had received treatment remained in good health. The 25 unprotected sheep died in the presence of the spectators.

He saved millions of sheep each year, by this treatment, reducing the fatality from ten to one per cent.

The third application was to rabies. Though he did not discover the microbe he made a culture from the

BUSINESS LOOKS FORWARD TO YEAR OF PROSPERITY

Optimism Voiced By Hoover Is Echoed By Federal Reserve Board.

PRODUCTION GAINS DURING THE YEAR

Agricultural Receipts Are Generally Higher Than Preceding Year.

Washington, Dec. 29.—Business and industry in the United States, approaching the beginning of the new year, can regard the progress of the past months with satisfaction and may look forward to continued prosperity during the early part of 1923, Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover declared today.

He pointed out, however, that unsettled conditions in foreign countries, particularly in Europe, are still depressing our trade and to a certain extent have kept the prices of agricultural products below the level of other commodities.

The optimism voiced by Secretary Hoover was echoed by the federal reserve board in calling attention to increases in production and employment, greater volume of trade and advancing prices during the month of November.

These price increases during the last two months were also noted by the commerce department in connection with its reference to the depression resulting from economic chaos abroad.

Production of manufactured commodities in 1922 was about 50 per cent greater than in 1921, according to figures compiled by the commerce department from reports to the census bureau.

Textile mills were about 20 per cent more active than in 1921, the iron and steel industry increased its output from 60 to 70 per cent, while other production gains were noted as follows:

Non-ferrous metals, 50 to 95 per cent; petroleum, 15 per cent; coke, 40 per cent; paper, 20 to 30 per cent; rubber, 40 per cent; automobiles, 50 per cent; building construction, 50 per cent; lumber, 35 per cent; brick, 50 per cent; cement, 15 per cent; leather, 20 per cent; sugar, 45 per cent, and meats about 5 per cent.

The only decline of outstanding importance recorded by the census bureau was seven per cent in bituminous coal and 47 per cent in anthracite caused by the strikes last summer. The seven per cent reduction in soft coal production under the figure for 1921 resulted in a decrease of 26,000,000 tons due to a strike of five months last summer. The anthracite decrease aggregated 40,000,000 tons.

Farm Prices Higher
Agricultural receipts were reported as generally high during 1922 as compared with the preceding year.

The increase in production coupled with a reduction in immigration improved the labor situation from large surplus of labor at the end of 1921 to a point where shortages now occur, while unemployment has been almost eliminated.

Transportation conditions in 1922 changed from a big surplus of idle freight cars to a considerable shortage, while carloadings were 11 per cent greater than in 1921—this despite the shippers' strike.

Prices received by farmers increased about 17 per cent during the year. Wholesale prices advanced 10 per cent and retail food prices declined five per cent. This condition, the department states, "gives the farmer a greater purchasing power and narrows the margin between wholesaler and retailer."

J. H. BRANTINGHAM DIES IN ALLIANCE

Victim Of Pneumonia Had Spent Most Of Life Near Winona.

James H. Brantingham, 72, died of pneumonia at 2 p. m. Thursday at his home, 2235 Cherry ave., Alliance. While he had been in failing health for some time he was stricken one week ago and had been in bed since Christmas day.

Mr. Brantingham, son of William and Rhoda B. Brantingham, was born Jan. 23, 1850. He was reared and spent most of his life in the vicinity of Winona, with the exception of a few years in Iowa with his parents.

He was twice married. His first wife was Anna Elizabeth Whiteleather. Three children, Eva, Hervey and Arthur, were born to this union. They are all deceased.

In 1895 the family moved to a farm near Beloit and later to a farm near Snodgrass, where the first wife died. On August 13, 1908, he married Margaret Ellen Coppock, Winona, who survives with one small grandson, Arthur Brantingham, Jr., and one brother, Joseph Brantingham, Topeka, Kan.

For 12 years he had lived in Alliance and was a member of the First Friends church there. The funeral will be conducted at the First Friends church, Alliance, at 10 a. m., Saturday; interment in the Damascus cemetery.

Abolish State Levies

IF there is any deduction to be drawn from the official statement by the auditor of state concerning the huge balance in the Ohio state treasury, it obviously is that the taxes are too heavy. Whether this is merely a balance rather than a surplus is not quite clear, but the recent appropriation of some ten millions of dollars with which to meet the second draft upon public funds to pay the soldiers' bonus, apparently indicates that it is the second.

Through this condition is created the anomaly of a bursting state treasury while many of the political subdivisions are hard put for money with which to pay their current expenses and meet the charges upon their tremendous funded debts.

Both political parties are united in approving the abolishment of the state levies, and in this the auditor of state joins. This will bring relief to the distressed municipalities at the end of the present fiscal year, but not, alas, in 1933. Following the repeal of this unnecessary legislation the new budget should be so compiled as to stay far inside the estimated revenues that will be left available.

The presence of a treasury surplus is always a living danger and an evil temptation to schemers and profiteers. Hence the general assembly, before the pressure comes, should lop off unsparring every levy and reduce every current and usual appropriation which can be operated upon without detriment to the public service.

Free Seed Killed

ONE'S enthusiasm over the defeat in the house of the proposed appropriation of $360,000 for the free distribution of garden seeds is dampened somewhat by the recollection that this time-honored graft has been ruled out of the agricultural bill many times before and as often slipped back again. We shall believe that there aren't going to be any free seeds next year when there aren't any.

This free seed distribution represents a perversion of the public funds to personal use, nothing else. The pretense is that it helps disseminate agricultural knowledge and promote agricultural progress by giving the public an opportunity to note the results from government tested seeds of the highest quality. The fact is that the seeds so distributed are not government tested at all but are merely bought from commercial dealers. The seeds bombastically franked through the mails by our congressmen to persons who they hope will appreciate the favor and return it in some way sometime are mere run-of-mine seeds with no special standing in the seed world. They are bought with the taxpayers' money, they are distributed at the taxpayers' expense with no object in view but a selfish political one, and more often than not they are not even much good as seeds.

20 YEARS AGO

(Issue of Dec. 29, 1902.)

Negotiations are pending for the consolidation of the Lake Erie, Youngstown & Southern with the Pittsburg, Lisbon & Western, according to the Pittsburg Gazette Times.

The chime of sleigh bells was heard in the city and suburbs Saturday and yesterday.

Miss Henrietta Trimble, Lincoln ave., has issued invitations for a walking party New Year's evening, in honor of Miss Jean Henthorne, Uhrichville, and Miss Jean Hayes, Canton.

Mrs. W. E. Hill and mother, Mrs. Anna Bosler, are in Chicago, where they will spend several weeks with relatives.

Miss Pearl K. Bohner and Frank L. Thomas, Winona young people, were married Sunday afternoon by Rev. F. J. Cope, East Fourth st. The groom is driver of the mail wagon which runs between this city and Winona.

Capt. William W. O'Neil, 72, president of the Pittsburg coal exchange and veteran riverman, died Friday morning at his home in Elizabeth, Pa.

He had many friends in Salem. Saturday evening Miss Isabel Mullins, Lincoln ave., gave a boisterous party to about 20 friends, honoring her guest, Miss Clara Comey, Cleveland.

Harry E. Morthland, this city, and Miss Ida L. McGaffie, Lisbon, were married Wednesday of last week, by Rev. J. A. Gorman, Lisbon. The groom is a traveling salesman.

Hon. Charles S. Speaker and sister returned Wednesday from a trip through foreign lands.

W. H. Matthews, this city, who has been spending the holiday vacation with relatives at Orangeville has gone to Chicago, where he will attend the annual convention of the Oliver Typewriter company.

LONGER LIFE

spittle of a mad dog. He used the virus, weakening it by exposure to dry air. He divided dogs for the experiment just as he had divided the sheep in the anthrax experiment. He gave the virus from the spinal cords of rabbits for 13 days. The dogs thus treated lived when bitten later with other mad dogs, and the untreated died when thus bitten. Of 104,000 thus treated, only 560 died after treatment.

He hesitated to extend the treatment to the human patient, but Joseph Meister, an Alsatian boy, was brought to him, his arms shredded with the bites of a mad dog, and as the case was pronounced hopeless, treated and cured him. Of thousands thus treated who were stricken in this most horrible way, less than one percent died.

Pasteur has declared, "It is in the power of man to cause all parasitic diseases to perish from the earth." Think what this means. Parasites cause 75 per cent of all disease and bacteria, 70 per cent of all disease with 50 per cent of all death.

All infection is from bacteria entering through broken skin, mouth, throat, or digestive tract. The body makes its own defense against these invading enemies. But when they multiply a million times in a day the body may succumb to superior numbers. The resistance of the body is multiplied by inoculation.

The average life has been lengthened from 35 to 46 years since Pasteur's day and the corresponding death rate decreased manifold in many diseases. We now know our foes, their method of approach and attack, and the field tactics of victory. We have the absolute certainty of preventive treatment. We have Koch's sure dictum, "Shut off the sources of infection."

We have the demonstration in hundreds of thousands of cases of the scientific reliability of modern medicine, in administering vaccines, sera and antitoxins. Why should anyone being follow cunningly devised fables, when he may have the care of skilled and accredited physicians men who have hazarded their lives to cure the most dangerous and malignant types of diseases.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Physician's Discovery Safely Reduces It To Normal and Dizzy Spells Disappear

If your blood pressure is too high you cannot pass a life insurance examination.

Perhaps you don't know whether you have this trouble or not, but if you have occasional dizzy spells, shortness of breath, pains in the head, hot flashes, are nervous, moody or don't sleep well, your blood pressure is probably higher than it ought to be even if you don't realize it.

Norma, the prescription of a Buffalo physician, reduces high blood pressure and when this result is accomplished all the ailments caused by this abnormal condition will quickly disappear. Bennett's drug store and reliable druggists everywhere have a steady demand for NORMA. It is purely vegetable and contains nothing harmful.

Allies Help Greek Refugees In Constantinople

Assisted by American bluejackets, British Tommies loaded the S. S. Andreas, a Greek refugee ship chartered in record time by the Red Cross, with Greeks who fled from Constantinople, more menacing. More than 10,000 persons were put aboard the big ship in three hours amid heartrending scenes.

Big Incubator Is Installed On Calkins Chick Farm

The Calkins poultry farm, located just outside of Salem on the Lisbon rd., has recently installed a modern forced draft incubator of over 47,000 egg capacity which B. H. Calkins, the proprietor believes the greatest baby chick producing machine in the world.

Visitors are always welcome at the farm and Mr. Calkins will be glad to show his new equipment to anyone. In addition to the Tom Baron strain of English White Leghorns, which he has kept for a number of years, Mr. Calkins will also hatch from reliable flocks, Rhode Islands Reds, Barred Plymouth Rocks and Anconas.

Besides many labor saving devices of the new incubator, it insures the most normal chick that it is possible to hatch. Another outstanding feature is that the chicks are taken out of the tray and boxed up inside the incubator, in the temperature in which the chicks are hatched. This gives them a better start, as there is no danger of chilling.

The heating system for this incubator is a steam boiler of the highest standard make similar to those used in heating residences, and fitted to burn any kind of coal, coke, wood or gas. It is absolutely safe and is controlled automatically by the steam pressure and never goes beyond the limit desired. The steam cannot go too far up or down because of the automatic heating and especially designed cooling system, and there is never any danger of overheating or insufficient heating of the incubator.

The temperature regulator is the simplest and most efficient, and is of the self-contained type, absolutely positive in action. There is not the least danger of rapid incubation. Another advantage is the cooling coil, which is placed below and outside the heating coil, and on very hot days water is kept running through this coil from the water system. In addition to the water cooling system, an air cooling system is also provided, whereby the cooler air is picked up from the floor and carried to the ceiling and thence into the incubator.

The most complicated feature, and most difficult one in incubation, has been the application of moisture. In this incubator, however, the safest feature in the entire machine is the application of moisture. It is entirely automatic, no instruments for measuring or special appliances whatever are necessary. It is also adjustable to any limits from the driest to a completely saturated atmosphere. The moisture is supplied by steam direct from the boiler in the form known as live steam. Owing to the special construction of the moisture nozzle, there is no dripping from the nozzle, hence there is no wet surface or unsanitary condition produced by the moisture supplied in this way as is the case where it has to be evaporated from an exposed water service. Moisture is supplied constantly with absolute dependability.

The ventilation of the incubator is accomplished by introducing air into the heating chamber above the aisle in which the operator works, which air is blown down by electric fans. By this system, the air is blown into the corridor, constantly stirring vitalized, and certain elements found and churning it, and the air is re-in dead air which are injurious to the chicks are blown through by a steaming chamber and blown through by a fan, and thoroughly mixed with the heated air before the air starts up through the eggs. The air is taken in both above and below the hatching trays, by which method, the current of air is broken up in such a way that down from the chicks does not rise above the hatching trays or fly elsewhere about the machine except in the bottom below the hatching trays, where it can be easily removed. This method of air circulation also insures that the eggs will not get too warm during the period from the fifteenth to eighteenth day.

The air in the hatching chamber is completely changed every three to four minutes—completely replaced by fresh air. Many times more fresh air is put in the incubator than in any other system, and the proper amount of moisture with the air is supplied. There are four separate devices for recording and controlling the temperature of this incubator; the temperature regulator, the recording thermometer, automatic temperature recording instrument and the moisture device. The temperature regulator is a self-contained type. It is a tube filled with oil under very high pressure, having a capillary tube leading over to a bellows in the steam valve which admits steam into the coil. It will shut the steam out completely or partially, according to the temperature requirements of the incubator. This regulator is centrally located just above the operator's head in the corridor where it gets the average mean temperature of the interior.

The thermometer is read from the outside of the machine in such a manner that it gives the actual hatching temperature needed. This is an angle thermometer with a tube extending into the machine and has a dial so placed on the outside of the machine as to be easily read while the operator is standing on the floor. This thermometer is the most accurate and most efficient to be found on the market and is carefully standardized to the fraction of a degree.

The automatic temperature recording instrument also is placed in the outside of the incubator. This instrument records the temperature every minute of each day during the entire week. It needs attention only once a week, when it is furnished with a new chart on which it automatically registers the temperature, with the precision of an eight day clock, thus enabling the operator to determine the temperature for an entire night or day, during the week.

The incubator is the room type being ten feet wide, eight feet high and thirteen feet deep. It contains 336 trays holding 140 eggs each, or a total capacity of 47,040 eggs each hatch. The trays of this machine are standard—that is all alike and interchangeable. The eggs remain in the same tray throughout the hatch. The trays of this machine are standard—that is all alike and interchangeable. The eggs remain in the same tray throughout the hatch and are not touched by and from the time they are set until the chicks are hatched. The trays are transferred down through the heat, slowly and carefully, by means of an endless conveyor chain at each end of the tray operated with a crank. The construction of the conveyor is such that it can never move unless the crank is turned. At the eighteenth day, when the eggs have reached the bottom, they are transferred to stationary racks below to hatch.

SULPHUR SOOTHES UGLY, ITCHING SKIN

If you are suffering from eczema or some other torturing, embarrassing skin trouble you may quickly be rid of it by using Menthosulphur, declares a noted skin specialist.

This sulphur preparation, because of its germ destroying properties, seldom fails to quickly subdue itching, even of fiery eczema. The first application makes the skin cool and comfortable. Rash and blotches are healed right up. Rowles Menthosulphur is applied like any pleasant cold cream and is perfectly harmless. You can obtain a small jar from any good druggist.

MEDICS AFTER CHIROPRACTORS

Hailey's Victory at Republican Senatorial Caucus.

Columbus, Dec. 29.—The much talked of caucus of the Republican members of the senate was held in Columbus, and while no standing committees were agreed on, the caucus did
select a slate of senate officials, and
while the caucus does not necessarily insure the jobs, the solidarity of the Republicanism of the senate is such
as to make practically certain the
formal election of the candidates nominated when the body goes into session in January.

As was expected William E. Hailey,
veteran clerk of the senate, was not
a candidate for re-election, but practically every man nominated was on the slate backed by Hailey. George
E. Kryder of Henry county was nominated for president pro tem and Joseph E. Cross of West Union was elected clerk. The only man nominated who did not have the backing of Hailey was Peter J. Buckingham of Cleveland, who was chosen assistant
sergeant-at-arms to succeed Frank M.
Ackerman of Willoughby, who was
beaten by a narrow margin.

Others nominated were: Colonel E.
S. Bryant, sergeant-at-arms; S. P.
Bell, Mansfield, second assistant sergeant-at-arms and postmaster; Thomas Morgan, Massillon, third assistant
sergeant-at-arms; Thomas Bateman,
Pike county, assistant clerk; Helen Purcell Roads, Hillsboro, engrossing
clerk; Elsie Jennings, Greenville, recording clerk; Walter Dale, Mansfield, enrolling clerk; J. T. Mahan,
Cleveland, message clerk; Lloyd
Bower, Columbus, journal clerk.

Incidentally the victory of Hailey
in the senate seems to belie the rumor coming out of Washington that Hailey is slipping, or if he is losing out on patronage at Washington, he
is centering his attention on taking care of his friends in the state.

The indorsement of Hailey has had
great weight at the national capital,
but the rumor now is to the effect that Senator Fess is demanding his share
of the plums, and that Willis, being
unwilling to surrender any of his, the loss must accrue to Hailey. This rumor recalls the rumors afloat during the campaign to the effect that Willis
was not particularly worried over the election of Fess, because the election
of another Republican would mean
the splitting of patronage. No overt charges were made and Willis talked
strongly for Fess, but politicians now
are wondering just when the break
will come.

Departments of state apparently are getting particularly busy during the last few weeks and indications are
that they are determined to clean up
matters started by them.

A few months ago the state medical board began an investigation of
alleged violations of the state medical practice code, to the effect that many chiropractors were operating in
the state without having passed the examination required before they are admitted to practice. It was alleged several hundred of these had never
taken any examination and that a large number of those who had taken
it had not passed, but were practicing in spite of this fact. The medical board asserted the number of those practicing largely exceeded the number
who had passed the examination.

This matter was brought to a head
when Frank A. Dorsey, an inspector
of the state medical board, appeared
in municipal court at Columbus and
swore out warrants against 16 men
alleged to be practicing in Columbus
without a license.

The state securities commission is
also getting busy, and instead of contending itself with sending out warnings to prospective cashiers of war
savings stamps and victory loan
bonds, to be on the lookout for sharp-
ers, has taken the precaution of cutting a number of alleged shady corporations from selling stock in the state.

Since July the commission has re-
voked the selling of certificates of 392
concerns, according to a report just issued. The report shows also that 78 indictments have been returned
against alleged violators of the blue
sky law and of this number 14 have
been convicted.

During the greater portion of the
summer the department of agriculture, which includes short weight and
food inspection and a few other
things, has been raising a great disturbance about short weights and
cold storage eggs sold as strictly fresh. Inspectors of the department
got busy last week and hailed a number of alleged violators of the law
into municipal court at Columbus, and

According to the inspectors who treated most uncavalierly by Judge
Seldel, presiding judge of the court,
who, they say, took the attitude that
they were a little too officious.

L. J. Taber, head of the department, took the side of his inspectors,
and in an announcement issued said:
"The department of agriculture was
not created to make it easy for food
violators to escape punishment, but
was created to protect the producer
and consumer; to prevent extortion
and dishonest prices and to stop food
adulteration. I will not enter into a discussion with Municipal Judge Sel-
del about the intelligence of the inspectors in the dairy and food division. I will say, however, that they do have sufficient intelligence to know
that the consumers of the state are entitled to a square deal and that it
is not only a violation of the law, but downright robbery for any dealer to
buy cold storage eggs at the lower
cold storage prices and sell them to the consumer as fresh eggs at the fresh egg prices.

"We have given our inspectors instructions to continue to prosecute
without fear or favor every single violator of the cold storage and food laws
of the state."

Republican members of the house
of representatives arriving here for
today's caucus brought with them a demand for the shortest legislative session possible and also for the fullest co-operation with the Democratic governor.

One of the number, Robert A. Taft
of Cincinnati, said he would introduce
a resolution forbidding the introduction of new bills after Feb. 15, unless consent to introduce is obtained from
a committee or a certain percentage
of the membership of the house. Taft won a number of friends to his proposal and they were discussing the
method to permit of exceptions.

H. H. Griswold of Geauga county, a middle-of-the-roader in respect to city
and rural leaning and also on taxation, continued to be regarded as the
most likely to win the speakership.
A. C. Robinson of Lawrence had a considerable rural backing, and R. C.
Dunn of Wood a good mixed support.
Other candidates are J. H. T. Gordon
of Logan and H. C. Ramey of Lucas.

W. H. Albaugh of Miami, C. H.
Fouts of Morgan and Justin Harding
of Warren are sparring for the position of speaker pro tem, or majority
floor leadership.

C. C. Marshall, Democratic member
of the utilities commission, said he
will take no part in a movement to prevent senate confirmation of his successor when named by Governor-elect Donahey. He asserted he was opposed to any such attitude, saying
he wants Donahey to have a free
hand. Marshall's term expires Feb.
1. The senate's failure to confirm his successor would automatically continue Marshall in the position.

It became known that Donahey is considering asking the legislature to restore the control of the state's 22
institutions to a four-member board.
It is said he has been unable to find
a man whom he considers qualified
to take the post of director of welfare.

During the regular session of the last general assembly the few Democratic members and some of the rampant Republican members went on a rampage about alleged dereliction of
various contractors in completing
road contracts undertaken by them
and leaving the state to hold the bag
when materials went up, and it was found unprofitable to complete the contracts.

As a result of the rumput, Attorney General John G. Price jumped into
the fight and proceeded to file suits
against the defaulting contractors for
the difference in the contract price
and the amount of money the state
was actually compelled to pay to obtain the completion of the contracts.

Price issued a formal statement
this week showing the result of his
activities along that line, and according to the report a total of $111,473
has been collected by the state from
the contractors or their bondsmen,
either as a result of suits or compro-
mises made by the state.

The total amount of the 17 claims presented by the attorney general was $240,836, but much of the original
amount was sacrificed in the compro-
mising. In this connection Price said:
"These settlements took into account the fact that there was no possibility of recovering by legal proceedings anything like the face value
of the claims, for the reason that the state completed the contracts under extraordinary war costs and working conditions. In a case recently tried
it developed that the state, in completing the work, was compelled to pay for materials more than double
the prices prevailing when the contract was let, and that labor costs
had increased enormously, all due to war conditions.

"In all of the claims settled similar
and even more aggravated conditions
prevailed, such as the employment of inefficient prison labor as the only
means of getting the work completed,
the opening up of expensive quarry operations because stone could not be obtained in the open market owing
to lack of railroad cars; the payment
of freight rates far in excess of the
originally estimated, due to government orders; tearing up of work under construction, due to passage of
government trucks hauling war materials; the drafting of contracts
into the military service, and in general the prevalence of extreme war conditions."

"The state securities commission has revoked the selling of certificates of 392
concerns, according to a report just
issued. The report shows also that 78 indictments have been returned
against alleged violators of the blue
sky law and of this number 14 have
been convicted.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Almost every one knows that Sage
Tea and sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and luster to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago, the only way to get this mixture was to make it at
home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a
large bottle of this famous old recipe,
improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one
can possibly tell that you darkened
your hair as it does it so naturally
and evenly. You dampen a sponge
or soft brush with it and draw this
through your hair, taking one small
strand at a time; by morning the gray
hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

The Bootlegger's Bad Ways and Big Profits

The lazy and dreamy old Nassau that in other days traded in sponges and tropical fruits, is to-day a busy commercial center. The sponge-baths are now used as the small craft of the smugglers to reach the South Atlantic coast of the United States, while vessels of all sizes that range from sea-going tugs to a converted Spanish battle-cruiser, carry the cargoes of rum to New York and the New England coast. In the bar-rooms, at the dining-tables, in the lobbies and on the porches of the hotels and boarding-houses
at Nassau, the capital city of the Bahama Islands, the bootleggers and whisky smugglers
"talk of their plans, tell of their profits and laugh at Uncle Sam." There, according to Frank K. Dolan, who went to the Bahamas to study the rum-runners's methods for the New York Daily News, "a man is either 'right' or 'queer.'" If a stranger is suspected of being "queer"—thought to be a revenue officer, a detective, or some one likely to interfere with the rum-smugglers' operations—"he is curtly told to leave town, and in some instances blackjacked and beaten."

In THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, December 30th, there is an informative
and interesting account of the methods and operations of the whisky smugglers.

"Laughter is the Sweetest Music in the World"

states the Detroit Free Press. Like the refrain of an enchanting melody it lingers in memory, a recollection of happy moments. More pleasing than the most delicate symphony is the spontaneous laughter of a crowd. It dulls care and creates joy. It tones the system. The urge to join is irresistible.

The Literary Digest gathers weekly from the world's press the brightest of the current laugh-provokers.
The best of these are presented in the merry motion picture, "Fun from the Press." The funniest incidents, the most laughable jokes, and the pithiest patter on the serious questions of the hour are all included. It's sparkling-new every week. Watch for it at your local theater. "Fun From the Press."

OHIO SOLONS IN FOR MERRY TIME

Various Organizations Have Proposed Legislative Schemes.

STATE OFFICIALS ALSO TO FORE

Director of Agriculture the Latest to Come Forward With a List of Recommendations—Good Roads Federation Seeks Changes in Highway Department—Caucus of Republican Members of the House.

Columbus, Dec. 29.—Should various organizations with pet legislative schemes and the different state departments keep on at the rate they have been going for the last few weeks, the next session of the general assembly will run over into another election, members of the legislature say.

L. J. Taber, state director of agriculture, is the latest one to come forward with his legislative program and as was expected the proposition of more money for the state fair has an important place in his scheme.

State property under the control of the department of agriculture is valued at $2,036,141.41 in an inventory for 1922 published by Taber. The most important item in the group is the fair ground plant, on which a valuation of $1,581,000 is placed. Property in the fish and game division is estimated to be worth $301,839.21, and that in the division of animal industry is valued at $143,568.20. Other items in the inventory are for small amounts.

In outlining a legislative program for the coming year Director Taber recommends creation of a rotary fund of approximately $200,000, for uses and purposes of the fair, and increased appropriations for tuberculosis eradication and corn borer control. Hope is expressed that ultimately the department will be self-sustaining, with the probable exception of its tuberculosis eradication work and appropriations for capital investment.

A comparison of expenditures and receipts for the last three years shows that in 1922 disbursements in excess of receipts were less than in either of the two previous years. In 1920 receipts were less than in either of the two previous years. In 1920 receipts aggregated $630,647.02 and disbursements $953,159.61, making the excess over receipts $322,512.59. The excess in 1921 jumped to $397,272.39, when receipts totaled $700,771.59 and disbursements $1,098,043.98. In 1922 the excess amounted to but $243,729.09, receipts totaling $713,110.28 and disbursements $956,840.17.

The legislative program outlined by Taber contains the following recommendations:

Licensing cold storage plants and charging $50 a year. Requiring more frequent inspection and the privilege of revoking license for violation of time limit.

Vesting in the department authority to sell at a fair price food products that have been held beyond the time limit and yet are fit for human food.

Provisions for licensing of cream stations and cheese factories, with adequate sanitary standards and a license fee of not to exceed $5.

Provisions of sanitary standards and a reasonable license fee for manufacturers of confectioners.

Authority to require all operators of cream stations, creameries and places where milk and cream are bought and sold on a butter fat basis to furnish a certificate, approved by the division of dairies of the Ohio State university, showing that the individual has the necessary qualifications to conduct such plant.

Registration by all manufacturers of paint or the formula for brands of paint, with a nominal fee of $2 for each brand.

Larger appropriations for tuberculosis eradication work and prompt payment for cattle condemned and destroyed prior to Jan. 1, 1921.

A rotary fund for the state serum institute for all expenses exclusive of salaries, improvements and repairs.

Branding of feeder cattle shipped into Ohio without a health certificate, with the letter "F."

Shipments of horses and mules into the state only upon health certificates, including mallein test.

Authorizing county officials to appropriate indemnity funds or to hire veterinarians to co-operate with the state and federal government when county areas are agreed upon in tuberculosis eradication work in their respective counties.

Appropriations of $3,000 to make a fruit and orchard survey.

A small appropriation for wages to enable the division of crop reporting to employ necessary clerical assistance.

A new apriary law giving the plant industry division wider powers in quarantining infected and diseased broods.

Appropriation for corn borer control and barberry eradication.

Appropriation for increasing number of part-time inspectors in the division of markets and marketing.

Provision for inspection of fruit and vegetable products and for a fee to be paid into the state treasury. Increased appropriations for publicity and standardization work in the division of markets.

Coming right on top of Taber's recommendations is the realization that school teachers from all over Ohio will be in Columbus this week, and of recent years teachers have not been slow in placing their ideas before the legislature and incidentally it might be mentioned that probably no other body of people in the state, with the possible exception of the farmers, has been more successful in getting its demands across. Consequently it is not unlikely that the teachers' organization will have plenty to say to the legislature and many of the solons are wondering just what will come out of the meeting this week.

The teachers are known to be opposed to any tax limitation, on the ground that any money lost to taxation will be taken off the schools first and dire predictions of six months school, scarcity of teachers because they can not get a living wage and dilapidated school houses are being made by teachers if the proposed 15-mill tax limitation, which the grange wants, is passed.

It is expected also they will recommend a revaluation of real estate and a general survey of the tax situation in the state. With a nice long list of recommendations by the grange, a conflicting list by the Good Roads federation, the State Federation of Labor backing an old-age pension and a minimum wage law, which is also backed by different women's clubs of the state, and every state department on hand with a number of legislative schemes, indications are that the general assembly is in for one sweet time following Jan. 8, when this grand old Republican body starts its tilt with the new Democratic governor.

Incidentally the Good Roads federation wants some changes in the state highway department and asserts the crying need of this department is a cost accounting system, and while it is said the organization will work on the department first, it is prepared to go before the legislature, if need be, and try to put over the scheme there.

Members want a committee appointed, three members by the governor, three by the house and three by the senate, to make a survey of the state and determine just how long "service interest" is being returned on money invested in roads. Members say taxpayers have a right to know just how much road service they are getting for their money and that the state should be prepared at all times to show them.

According to W. A. Alsdorf, executive secretary of the federation, the state highway department has been pretty much of a political football, where more attention has been given to patronage than to service. In connection with the latest proposal of the organization he said:

"Questions entering into a definition should be 'What has the road earned in service?' Has it enjoyed a healthy growth in traffic? Do indications point to future growth? 'How much of an investment is warranted by the service rendered?'"

"This is the kind of information the banker demands when he is asked to make an investment. Why not the state?"

"Upon highway matters the lack of accurate and comprehensive knowledge has caused confusion in the public mind; confusion has produced doubt and distrust accompanied by a growing determination to pause and take stock of the great highway programs of today. In general throughout the country the people are disclosing a questioning attitude toward highway expenditures. It is imperative that the highway system be placed upon a solid business footing, so that the taxpayers may know they are getting their money's worth for every dollar spent."

The Republican members of the senate who caused last week and nominated their officers, which, with the body practically solidly Republican, amounts to the same thing as election, were followed up by the houses caucus, more strongly Republican, but also with more would-be leaders, and while storms brewed they did not break, and everything went off peacefully.

As was expected, H. H. Griswold of Geauga county landed the speakership and Robert C. Dunn of Wood county the majority floor leadership, which carries with it the duties of vice assistant or substitute speaker. Griswold was elected, but not without a fight, for three ballots were necessary before the matter was settled. Dunn was his closest competitor, with A. C. Robinson of Lawrence county ranking third and H. C. Ramsey of Toledo fourth.

Three representatives sought the majority floor leadership, but when Dunn was defeated for speaker he became a candidate for the lesser job and landed without much trouble.

Others selected were: Clare E. Spring, Paulding, journal clerk; Holmes H. Kress, Bellefontaine, message clerk; Mrs. Ella M. Scriven, Columbus, recording clerk; Effie V. Gregg of Malta, enrolling clerk; Howard Clinthorne, Cleveland, engrossing clerk; Edward W. Hughes, Columbus, parliamentarian; Samuel M. Fletcher of Lima, first assistant sergeant-at-arms; Charles Berry, New Lexington, second assistant sergeant-at-arms; and John D. Thomas, Columbus, third assistant.

BOYS AND GIRLS WIN OPENING BASKETBALL GAMES FROM ALUMNI

Displaying brilliant form for early hand by scoring 14 points to win a season play, both boys and girls well deserved victory. William is Star. William with eight field goals and five fouls was responsible for 21 of her team's total of 25 points. Her floor work was also good and in this she was very ably assisted by Tinsman who showed real form in her attempts to locate the basket. These two were the main cogs in the teams offense. The guarding of Cosgrove and all around work of Tolerton stood out in the teamwork of the winners.

The boys won from the former grads by a 29-18 score while the girls came through with a four point margin of victory, 25-21.

Both scholastic teams played winning basketball and both had to come from behind to annex their victories. Of the two contests the girls' game was the real thriller with the score being close through the entire contest.

Beginning with the second quarter the score remained close until the final minutes of play when a last minute spurt gave the High Lassies their margin of victory. They trailed the Alumni passers during the greater part of the game but some brilliant shooting in the last few minutes spelled victory.

Teamwork Improves. The boys aggregation performed in a like manner. The end of the first half found them trailing the Alumni by three points, 15-18. The third quarter proved the turning point however, and the Red and Black allowed the former scholastic performers but three field goals and not a foul during the entire last half.

The boys' teamwork was a trifle ragged to start the game but as the contest progressed their work improved and the third quarter found them hitting on all five cylinders. Individual stars were hard to determine on the scholastic quint, the deciding feature. The sensational shooting of McKeown during the last half, and Houser's steady work at center spots in the boys' victory.

For the Alumni Siskowic was the whole works. His clever guarding kept the grads in the running during the first half and his absence was keenly felt when he retired at the end of the period. J. Miller and Spencer displayed flashes of old time Tolerton for the former High performers. The girls' game was a thriller from start to finish and the result was in doubt until the final minutes of play. It was late in the game before the scholastic lassies hit their stride and then they came from behind.

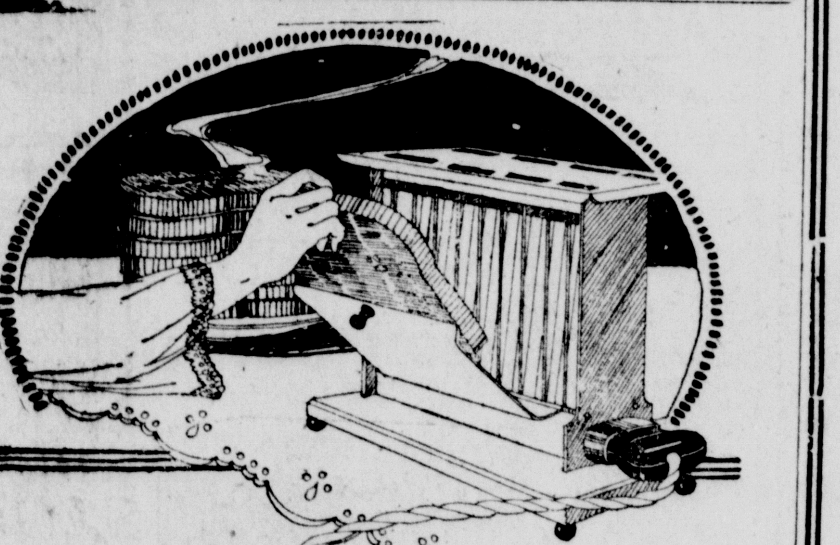

Field goals—McKeown 5; Sheehan 3; Houser 4; J. Miller 2; Spencer 2; Siskowic 2.

Foul goals—McKeown 2 out of 7; Sheehan 5 out of 12.

Allies Help Greek Refugees In Constantinople

Assisted by American bluejackets, British Tommies loaded the S. S. Andreas, a Greek refuge ship chartered in record time by the Red Cross, with Greeks who fled from Constantinople, more menacing. More than 10,000 persons were put aboard the big ship in three hours amid heartrending scenes.

Big Incubator Is Installed On Calkins Chick Farm

The Calkins poultry farm, located just outside of Salem on the Lisbon rd., has recently installed a modern forced draft incubator of over 47,000 egg capacity which B. H. Calkins, the proprietor believes the greatest baby chick producing machine in the world. Visitors are always welcome at the farm and Mr. Calkins will be glad to show his new equipment to anyone. In addition to the Tom Baron strain of English White Leghorns, which he has kept for a number of years, Mr. Calkins will also hatch from reliable flocks, Rhode Islands Reds, Barred Plymouth Rocks and Anconas.

Besides many labor saving devices of the new incubator, it insures the most normal chick that it is possible to hatch. Another outstanding feature is that the chicks are taken out of the tray and boxed up inside the incubator, in the temperature in which the chicks are hatched. This gives them a better start, as there is no danger of chilling. The heating system for this incubator is a steam boiler of the highest standard make similar to those used in heating residences, and fitted to burn any kind of coal, coke, wood or gas. It is absolutely safe and is controlled automatically by the steam pressure and never goes beyond the limit desired. The steam cannot go too far up or down because of the automatic heating and especially designed cooling system, and there is never any danger of overheating or insufficient heating of the incubator.

The temperature regulator is the simplest and most efficient, and is of the self-contained type, absolutely positive in action. There is not the least danger of rapid incubation. Another advantage is the cooling coil, which is placed below and outside the heating coil, and on very hot days water is kept running through this coil from the water system. In addition to the water cooling system, an air cooling system is also provided, whereby the cooler air is picked up from the floor and carried to the ceiling and thence into the incubator.

The most complicated feature, and most difficult one in incubation, has been the application of moisture. In this incubator, however, the safest feature in the entire machine is the application of moisture. It is entirely automatic, no instruments whatever are necessary. It is also adjustable to any limits from atmosphere. The moisture is supplied by steam direct from the boiler in the form known as live steam. Owing to the special construction of the moisture nozzle, there is no wet surface or unsanitary condition produced by the moisture supplied in this way as is the case where it has to be evaporated from an exposed water service. Moisture is supplied constantly with absolute dependability.

The ventilation of the incubator is accomplished by introducing air into the heating chamber above the aisle in which the operator works, which air is blown down by electric fans. By this system, the air is blown into the corridor, constantly stirring and churning it, and the air is re-in dead air which is injurious to the chicks are dissipated. The steam ing chamber and blown through by a moisture is introduced into the heat-fan, and thoroughly mixed with the heated air before the air starts up through the eggs. The air is taken in both above and below the hatching trays, by which method the current of air is broken up in such a way that down from the chicks does not rise above the hatching trays or fly elsewhere about the machine except in the bottom below the hatching trays, where it can be easily removed. This method of air circulation also insures that the eggs will not get too warm during the period from the fifteenth to eighteenth day.

The air in the hatching chamber is completely changed every three to four minutes—completely replaced by fresh air. Many times more fresh air is put in the incubator than in any other system, and the proper amount of moisture with the air is supplied. There are four separate devices for recording and controlling the temperature of this incubator; the temperature regulator, the recording thermometer, automatic temperature recording instrument and the moisture device. The temperature regulator is a self-contained type. It is a tube filled with oil under very high pressure, having a capillary tube leading over to a bellows in the steam valve which admits steam into the coil. It will shut the steam out completely or partially, according to the temperature requirements of the incubator. This regulator is centrally located just above the operator's head in the corridor where it gets the average mean temperature of the interior.

The thermometer is read from the outside of the machine in such a manner that it gives the actual hatching temperature needed. This is an angle thermometer with a tube extending into the machine and has a dial so placed on the outside of the machine as to be easily read while the operator is standing on the floor. This thermometer is the most accurate and most efficient to be found on the market and is carefully standardized to the fraction of a degree.

The automatic temperature recording instrument also is placed in the outside of the incubator. This instrument records the temperature every minute of each day during the entire week. It needs attention only once a week, when it is furnished with a new chart on which it automatically registers the temperature with the precision of an eight day clock, thus enabling the operator to determine the temperature for an minute night or day during the week.

The incubator is the room type being ten feet wide, eight feet high and thirteen feet deep. It contains 336 trays holding 140 eggs each, or a total capacity of 47,040 eggs each hatch. The trays of this machine are standard—that is all alike and interchangeable. The eggs remain in the same tray throughout the hatch. The trays of this machine are standard—that is all alike and interchangeable. The eggs remain in the same tray throughout the hatch and are not touched by and from the time they are set until the chicks are hatched. The trays are transferred down through the heat, and are carefully, by means of an endless conveyor chain at each end of the tray operated with a crank. The construction of the conveyor is such that it can never move unless the crank is turned. At the eighteenth day, when the eggs have reached the bottom, they are transferred to stationary racks below to hatch.

If you are suffering from eczema or some other torturing, embarrassing skin trouble you may quickly be rid of it by using Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist.

This sulphur preparation, because of its germ destroying properties, seldom fails to quickly subdue itching, even of fiery eczema. The first application makes the skin cool and comfortable. Rash and blotches are healed right up. Rowles Mentho-Sulphur is applied like any pleasant cold cream and is perfectly harmless. You can obtain a small jar from any good druggist.

You're a little wonder car,
For above all other makes,
You shine from Red Seal power to brakes.

All the features that one finds,
In high grade cars of other kinds,
Three speeds forward and reverse,
A car to fit a poor man's purse.

Like your namesake in the sky
You shine on earth to please the eye,
Designed for comfort, work of speed,
The guiding star for every need.

As you twinkle to success,
Giving more and costing less,
In arctic lands or tropic sunny
Little car you're worth the money.

A Happy New Year

This is the season when all of us wish all good things for every one. What better wish could we give each other than the wish for good health and happiness and long life?

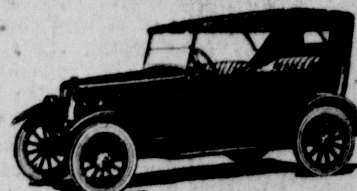

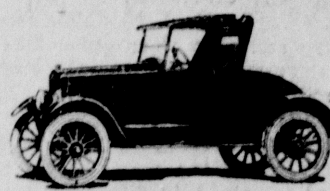

Good teeth are necessary for good health. Good teeth are necessary for good digestion; happiness is largely a matter of good digestion. Long life depends upon good health and good digestion and good teeth.

Here's hoping that your good teeth will enable you to enjoy your New Year's dinner and that the day after will find you happy and contented, with another beautiful memory of a Happy New Year.

Halley's Victory at Republican Senatorial Caucus.

Columbus, Dec. 29.—The much talk-
ed of caucus of the Republican members of the senate was held in Columbus, and while no standing committees were agreed on, the caucus did
select a slate of senate officials, and
while the caucus does not necessarily
insure the jobs, the solidarity of the Republicanism of the senate is such
as to make practically certain the
formal election of the candidates nominated when the body goes into session in January.

As was expected William E. Halley,
veteran clerk of the senate, was not
a candidate for re-election, but practically every man nominated was on the slate backed by Halley. George
E. Kryder of Henry county was nominated for president pro tem and Joseph E. Cross of West Union was elected clerk. The only man nominated who did not have the backing
of Halley was Peter J. Buckingham of Cleveland, who was chosen assistant
sergeant-at-arms to succeed Frank M.
Ackerman of Willoughby, who was
beaten by a narrow margin.

Others nominated were: Colonel E.
S. Bryant, sergeant-at-arms; S. F.
Bell, Mansfield, second assistant sergeant-at-arms and postmaster; Thom-
as Morgan, Massillon, third assistant
sergeant-at-arms; Thomas Bateman,
Pike county, assistant clerk; Helen
Purcell Roads, Hillsboro, engrossing
clerk; Elsie Jennings, Greenville, recording clerk; Walter Dale, Mans-
field, enrolling clerk; J. T. Mahan,
Cleveland, message clerk; Lloyd
Bower, Columbus, journal clerk.

Incidentally the victory of Halley
in the senate seems to belie the rum-
or coming out of Washington that Halley is slipping, or if he is losing
out on patronage at Washington, he
is centering his attention on taking
care of his friends in the state.

The indorsement of Halley has had
great weight at the national capital,
but the rumor now is to the effect that Senator Fess is demanding his share
of the plums, and that Willis, being
unwilling to surrender any of his, the loss must accrue to Halley. This rumor recalls the rumors afloat during the campaign to the effect that Willis
was not particularly worried over the
election of Fess, because the election
of another Republican would mean
the splitting of patronage. No overt
charges were made and Willis talked
strongly for Fess, but politicians now
are wondering just when the break
will come.

Departments of state apparently are
getting particularly busy during the
last few weeks and indications are
that they are determined to clean up
matters started by them.

A few months ago the state medical board began an investigation of
alleged violations of the state medical practice code, to the effect that
many chiropractors were operating in
the state without having passed the
examination required before they are
admitted to practice. It was alleged
several hundred of these had never
taken any examination and that a
large number of those who had taken
it had not passed, but were practicing in spite of this fact. The medics asserted the number of those practicing largely exceeded the number
who had passed the examination.

This matter was brought to a head
when Frank A. Dorsey, an inspector
of the state medical board, appeared
in municipal court at Columbus and
swore out warrants against 16 men
alleged to be practicing in Columbus
without a license.

The state securities commission is
also getting busy, and instead of con-
tending itself with sending out warn-
ings to prospective cashiers of war
savings stamps and victory loan
bonds, to be on the lookout for sharp-
ers, has taken the precaution of cutting a number of alleged shady corporations from selling stock in the state.

Since July the commission has re-
voked the selling of certificates of 392
concerns, according to a report just
issued. The report shows also that 78 indictments have been returned
against alleged violators of the blue
sky law and of this number 14 have
been convicted.

During the greater portion of the
summer the department of agriculture, which includes short weight and
food inspection and a few other
things, has been raising a great disturbance about short weights and
cold storage eggs sold as strictly
fresh. Inspectors of the department
got busy last week and hailed a number of alleged violators of the law
into municipal court at Columbus, and

according to the inspectors who
treated most uncavalierly by Judge
Seldel, presiding judge of the court,
who, they say, took the attitude that
they were a little too officious.

L. J. Taber, head of the department, took the side of his inspectors,
and in an announcement issued said:

"The department of agriculture was
not created to make it easy for food
violators to escape punishment, but
was created to protect the producer
and consumer; to prevent extortion
and dishonest prices and to stop food
adulteration. I will not enter into a discussion with Municipal Judge Sel-
del about the intelligence of the inspectors in the dairy and food division. I will say, however, that they
do have sufficient intelligence to know
that the consumers of the state are entitled to a square deal and that it
is not only a violation of the law, but
downright robbery for any dealer to
buy cold storage eggs at the lower
cold storage prices and sell them to
the consumer as fresh eggs at the
fresh egg prices.

"We have given our inspectors instructions to continue to prosecute
without fear or favor every single vi-
olator of the cold storage and food laws
of the state.

Republican members of the house
of representatives arriving here for
today's caucus brought with them a
demand for the shortest legislative
session possible and also for the fullest co-operation with the Democratic
governor.

One of the number, Robert A. Taft
of Cincinnati, said he would introduce
a resolution forbidding the introduction of new bills after Feb. 15, unless
consent to introduce is obtained from
a committee or a certain percentage
of the membership of the house. Taft
won a number of friends to his proposal and they were discussing the
method to permit of exceptions.

H. H. Griswold of Geauga county, a
middle-of-the-roader in respect to city
and rural leaning and also on taxation, continued to be regarded as the
most likely to win the speakership.
A. C. Robinson of Lawrence had a considerable rural backing, and R. C.
Dunn of Wood a good mixed support.
Other candidates are J. H. T. Gordon
of Logan and H. C. Ramey of Lucas.

W. H. Albaugh of Miami, C. H.
Fouts of Morgan and Justin Harding
of Warren are sparring for the position of speaker pro tem, or majority
floor leadership.

C. C. Marshall, Democratic member
of the utilities commission, said he
will take no part in a movement to
prevent senate confirmation of his
successor when named by Governor
elect Donahey. He asserted he was opposed to any such attitude, saying
he wants Donahey to have a free
hand. Marshall's term expires Feb.
1. The senate's failure to confirm his successor would automatically continue Marshall in the position.

It became known that Donahey is
considering asking the legislature to
restore the control of the state's 22
institutions to a four-member board.
It is said he has been unable to find
a man whom he considers qualified
to take the post of director of welfare.

During the regular session of the
last general assembly the few Democratic members and some of the ram-
pant Republican members went on a
rampage about alleged dereliction of
various contractors in completing
road contracts undertaken by them
and leaving the state to hold the bag
when materials went up, and it was
found unprofitable to complete the
contracts.

As a result of the rumpus, Attorney General John G. Price jumped into
the fight and proceeded to file suits
against the defaulting contractors for
the difference in the contract price
and the amount of money the state
was actually compelled to pay to obtain the completion of the contracts.
Price issued a formal statement
this week showing the result of his
activities along that line, and according to the report a total of $111,473
has been collected by the state from
the contractors or their bondsmen,
either as a result of suits or compro-
mises made by the state.

The total amount of the 17 claims
presented by the attorney general was $240,836, but much of the original
amount was sacrificed in the compro-
mising. In this connection Price said:
"These settlements took into account the fact that there was no possibility of recovering by legal proceedings anything like the face value
of the claims, for the reason that the
state completed the contracts under
extraordinary war costs and working conditions. In a case recently tried
it developed that the state, in completing the work, was compelled to
pay for materials more than double
the prices prevailing when the contract was let, and that labor costs
had increased enormously, all due to
war conditions.

"In all of the claims settled similar
and even more aggravated conditions
prevailed, such as the employment of
inefficient prison labor as the only
means of getting the work completed,
the opening up of expensive quarries, operations because stone could not be obtained in the open market owing
to lack of railroad cars; the payment
of freight rates far in excess of the
originally estimated, due to government orders; tearing up of work under construction, due to passage of
government trucks hauling war materials; the drafting of contracts
into the military service, and in general the prevalence of extreme war
conditions."

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and faster to the hair when faded, streak-
ed or gray. Years ago, the only way
to get this mixture was to make it at
home, which is messy and trouble-
some. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a
large bottle of this famous old recipe,
improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one
can possibly tell that you darkened
your hair as it does it so naturally
and evenly. You dampen a sponge
or soft brush with it and draw this
through your hair, taking one small
strand at a time; by morning the gray
hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes
beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

The Bootlegger's Bad Ways and Big Profits

The lazy and dreamy old Nassau that in other days traded in sponges and tropical fruits, is to-day a busy commercial center. The sponge-baths are now used as the small craft of the smugglers to reach the South Atlantic coast of the United States, while vessels of all sizes that range from sea-going tugs to a converted Spanish battle-cruiser, carry the cargoes of rum to New York and the New England coast. In the bar-rooms, at the dining-tables, in the lobbies and on the porches of the hotels and boarding-houses
at Nassau, the capital city of the Bahama Islands, the bootleggers and whisky smugglers
"talk of their plans, tell of their profits and laugh at Uncle Sam." There, according to Frank K. Dolan, who went to the Bahamas to study the rum-runners' methods for the New York Daily News, "a man is either 'right' or 'queer.'" If a stranger is suspected
of being "queer"—thought to be a revenue officer, a detective, or some one likely to interfere with the rum-smugglers' operations—"he is curtly told to leave town, and in some instances blackjacked and beaten."

In THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, December 30th, there is an informative
and interesting account of the methods and operations of the whisky smugglers.

"Laughter is the Sweetest Music in the World"

states the Detroit Free Press. Like the refrain of an enchanting melody it lingers in memory, a recollection of happy moments. More pleasing than the most delicate symphony is the spontaneous laughter of a crowd. It dulls care and creates joy. It tones the system. The urge to join is irresistible.

The Literary Digest gathers weekly from the world's press the brightest of the current laugh-provokers.
The best of these are presented in the merry motion picture, "Fun from the Press." The funniest

OHIO SOLONS IN FOR MERRY TIME

Various Organizations Have Pot Legislative Schemes.

STATE OFFICIALS ALSO TO FORE

Director of Agriculture the Latest to Come Forward With a List of Recommendations—Good Roads Federation Seeks Changes in Highway Department—Caucus of Republican Members of the House.

Columbus, Dec. 29.—Should various organizations with pet legislative schemes and the different state departments keep on at the rate they have been going for the last few weeks, the next session of the general assembly will run over into another election, members of the legislature say.

L. J. Taber, state director of agriculture, is the latest one to come forward with his legislative program and as was expected the proposition of more money for the state fair has an important place in his scheme.

State property under the control of the department of agriculture is valued at $2,086,141.41 in an inventory for 1922 published by Taber. The most important item in the group is the fair ground plant, on which a valuation of $1,581,000 is placed. Property in the fish and game division is estimated to be worth $301,839.21, and that in the division of animal industry is valued at $143,568.20. Other items in the inventory are for small amounts.

In outlining a legislative program for the coming year Director Taber recommends creation of a rotary fund of approximately $200,000, for uses and purposes of the fair, and increased appropriations for tuberculosis eradication and corn borer control. Hope is expressed that ultimately the department will be self-sustaining, with the probable exception of its tuberculosis eradication work and appropriations for capital investment.

A comparison of expenditures and receipts for the last three years shows that in 1922 disbursements in excess of receipts were less than in either of the two previous years. In 1920 receipts were less than in either of the two previous years. In 1920 receipts aggregated $630,647.02 and disbursements $953,159.61, making the excess over receipts $322,512.59. The excess in 1921 jumped to $387,272.39, when receipts totaled $700,771.59 and disbursements $1,088,043.98. In 1922 the excess amounted to but $243,729.88, receipts totaling $713,110.28 and disbursements $956,840.17.

The legislative program outlined by Taber contains the following recommendations:

Licensing cold storage plants and charging $50 a year. Requiring more frequent inspection and the privilege of revoking license for violation of time limit.

Vesting in the department authority to sell at a fair price food products that have been held beyond the time limit and yet are fit for human food.

Provisions for licensing of cream stations and cheese factories, with adequate sanitary standards and a license fee of not to exceed $5.

Provisions of sanitary standards and a reasonable license fee for manufacturing confectioners.

Authority to require all operators of cream stations, creameries and places where milk and cream are bought and sold on a butter fat basis to furnish a certificate, approved by the division of dairies of the Ohio State university, showing that the individual has the necessary qualifications to conduct such plant.

Registration by all manufacturers of paint or the formula for brands of paint, with a nominal fee of $2 for each brand.

Larger appropriations for tuberculosis eradication work and prompt payment for cattle condemned and destroyed prior to Jan. 1, 1921.

A rotary fund for the state serum institute for all expenses exclusive of salaries, improvements and repairs.

Branding of feeder cattle shipped into Ohio without a health certificate, with the letter "F."

Shipments of horses and mules into the state only upon health certificates, including mallein test.

Authorizing county officials to appropriate indemnity funds or to hire veterinarians to co-operate with the state and federal government when county areas are agreed upon in tuberculosis eradication work in their respective counties.

Appropriations of $3,000 to make a fruit and orchard survey.

A small appropriation for wages to enable the division of crop reporting to employ necessary clerical assistance.

A new apilary law giving the plant industry division wider powers in quarantining infected and diseased broods.

Appropriation for corn borer control and barberry eradication.

Appropriation for increasing number of part-time inspectors in the division of markets and marketing.

READ THE WANT COLUMNS

Provision for inspection of drift and vegetable products and for a fee to be paid into the state treasury. Increased appropriations for publicity and standardization work in the division of markets.

Coming right on top of Taber's recommendations is the realization that school teachers from all over Ohio will be in Columbus this week, and of recent years teachers have not been slow in placing their ideas before the legislature and incidentally it might be mentioned that probably no other body of people in the state, with the possible exception of the farmers, has been more successful in getting its demands across. Consequently it is not unlikely that the teachers' organization will have plenty to say to the legislature and many of the solons are wondering just what will come out of the meeting this week.

The teachers are known to be opposed to any tax limitation, on the ground that any money lost to taxation will be taken off the schools first and dire predictions of six months school, scarcity of teachers because they can not get a living wage and dilapidated school houses are being made by teachers if the proposed 15-mill tax limitation, which the grange wants, is passed.

It is expected also they will recommend a revaluation of real estate and a general survey of the tax situation in the state. With a nice long list of recommendations by the grange, a conflicting list by the Good Roads federation, the State Federation of Labor backing an old-age pension and a minimum wage law, which is also backed by different women's clubs of the state, and every state department on hand with a number of legislative schemes, indications are that the general assembly is in for one sweet time following Jan. 8, when this grand old Republican body starts its tilt with the new Democratic governor.

Incidentally the Good Roads federation wants some changes in the state highway department and asserts the crying need of this department is a cost accounting system, and while it is said the organization will work on the department first, it is prepared to go before the legislature, if need be, and try to put over the scheme there.

Members want a committee appointed, three members by the governor, three by the house and three by the senate, to make a survey of the state and determine just how long "service interest" is being returned on money invested in roads. Members say taxpayers have a right to know just how much road service they are getting for their money and that the state should be prepared at all times to show them.

According to W. A. Alsdorf, executive secretary of the federation, the state highway department has been pretty much of a political football, where more attention has been given to patronage than to service. In connection with the latest proposal of the organization he said:

"Questions entering into a decision should be 'What has the road earned in service?' 'Has it enjoyed a healthy business traffic?' 'Do indications point to future growth?' 'How much of an investment is warranted by the service rendered?'"

"This is the kind of information the banker demands when he is asked to make an investment. Why not the state?"

"Upon highway matters the lack of accurate and comprehensive knowledge has caused confusion in the public mind; confusion has produced doubt and distrust accompanied by a growing determination to pause and take stock of the great highway programs of today. In general throughout the country the people are disclosing a questioning attitude toward highway expenditures. It is imperative that the highway system be placed upon a solid business footing, so that the taxpayers may know they are getting their money's worth for every dollar spent."

The Republican members of the senate who caused last week and nominated their officers, which, with the body practically solidly Republican, amounts to the same thing as election, were followed up by the houses caucus, more strongly Republican, but also with more would-be leaders, and while storms brewed they did not break, and everything went off peacefully.

As was expected, H. H. Griswold of Geauga county landed the speakership and Robert C. Dunn of Wood county the majority floor leadership, which carries with it the duties of vice assistant or substitute speaker.

Griswold was elected, but not without a fight, for three ballots were necessary before the matter was settled. Dunn was his closest competitor, with A. C. Robinson of Lawrence county ranking third and H. C. Ramsey of Toledo fourth.

Three representatives sought the majority floor leadership, but when Dunn was defeated for speaker he became a candidate for the lesser job and landed without much trouble.

Others selected were: Clara E. Spring, Paulding, journal clerk; Holmes H. Kress, Bellefontaine, message clerk; Mrs. Ella M. Scriven, Columbus, recording clerk; Effie V. Gregg of Malta, enrolling clerk; Howard Clinthorne, Cleveland, engrossing clerk; Edward W. Hughes, Columbus, parliamentary; Samuel M. Fletcher of Lima, first assistant sergeant-at-arms; Charles Berry, New Lexington, second assistant sergeant-at-arms; and John D. Thomas, Columbus, third assistant.

BOYS AND GIRLS WIN OPENING BASKETBALL GAMES FROM ALUMNI

Displaying brilliant form for early season play, both boys and girls teams of Salem High school made good starts in their 1922-23 basketball campaign Thursday night, when they defeated Alumni teams in both ends of a double header at the High gym.

The boys won from the former grads by a 29-18 score while the girls came through with a four point margin of victory, 25-21.

Both scholastic teams played winning basketball and both had to come from behind to annex their victories. Of the two contests the girls' game was the real thriller with the score being close through the entire contest.

Beginning with the second quarter the score remained close until the final minutes of play when a last minute spurt gave the High lassies their margin of victory. They trailed the Alumni passers during the greater part of the game but some brilliant shooting in the last few minutes spelled victory.

Teamwork Improves The boys aggregation performed in a like manner. The end of the first half found them trailing the Alumni by three points, 15-18. The third quarter proved the turning point however, and the Red and Black allowed the former scholastic performers but three field goals and not a foul during the entire last half.

The boys' teamwork was a trifle ragged to start the game but as the contest progressed their work improved and the third quarter found them hitting on all five cylinders.

Individual stars were hard to determine on the scholastic quint, their all around teamwork being the deciding feature. The sensational shooting of McKeown during the last half and Houser's steady work at center during the entire game were the high spots in the boys' victory.

For the Alumni Siskowic was the whole works. His clever guarding kept the grads in the running during the first half and his absence was keenly felt when he retired at the end of the period. J. Miller and Spencer displayed flashes of old time Tolerton for the former High performers. The girls' game was a thriller from start to finish and the result was in doubt until the final minutes of play. It was late in the game before the scholastic lassies hit their stride and then they came from behind by scoring 14 points to win a well deserved victory.

Willaman is Star Willaman with eight field goals and five fouls was responsible for 21 of her team's total of 25 points. Her floor work was also good and in this she was very ably assisted by Tinsman who showed real form in her attempts to locate the basket. These two were the main cogs in the teams offense. The guarding of Cosgrove and all around work of Tolerton stood out in the teamwork of the winners.

Allen and Sechler were the luminaries for the Alumni. The former showed spectacular form in shooting while the latter's work at guard kept the High score reduced to a minimum.

Both boys and girls presented a natty appearance in their Red and Black uniforms. The new outfits worn for the first time by the boys aided greatly in their brilliant exhibition of passwork during the last half.

Numerous substitutions were made on all four teams. Coach Vivian used a number of candidates on his scholastic teams. Yengling, Vollmer and O'Neil looked good for the boys. The lineup and summaries:

Boys HIGHS—29 ALUMNI—18 McKeown F..... Wirsching F..... Sheehan F..... Spencer C..... Houser C..... McCleery G..... Roessler G..... C. Roessler G..... Sartick G..... Siskowic G..... Substitutions—Vollmer for Roessler; Yengling for Sartick; Miller for Wirsching; O'Neil for Yengling; Scullion for Siskowic; A. Miller for McCleery; Wirsching for Spencer.

Field goals—McKeown 5; Sheehan 2; Houser 4; J. Miller 2; Spencer 2; Siskowic 2. Foul goals—McCleery 2 out of 7; Sheehan 5 out of 12.

Girls HIGHS—25 ALUMNI—21 Willaman F..... Allen F..... Jensen F..... Sutter F..... Tolerton C..... Hunt C..... Calkins C..... Spiker G..... Cosgrove G..... Woodruff G..... Whinnery G..... Sechler G..... Substitutions—Tinsman for Jensen; Jeneski for Whinnery; Barnes for Tolerton; Harding for Jeneski; Tolerton for Barnes; Calkins for Spiker; Spiker for Sechler.

Field goals—Willaman 8; Tinsman 2; Allen 5; Sutter 3 (1 overhead). Fouls—Willaman 5 out of 14; Allen 4 out of 8; Sutter 2 out of 4. Referee—Scullion. Timer—Alan.

Ohio Teachers Have a Legislative Program.

AT ODDS WITH STATE GRANGE

Latter Fighting For Tax Limitation, Which the Teachers Do Not Want. Director MacAyeal Flouts Printed Story of an Alleged Building Program—Solely Lining Up For Retrenchment—State Affairs.

Columbus, ec. 29. — The Ohio Teachers' association, in convention in Columbus this week, followed the precedent set down by other organizations which have held conventions during the last few weeks, and started the ball rolling by preparing to give the general assembly more things to worry about when it convenes next month.

Practically the first thing the convention did was to take up the recommendations of the legislative committee, and the length of the report of that committee indicates that its members do not propose to leave anything to the imagination of the legislators, or to take any chance on having something overlooked.

In the first place the teachers want something to say about taxation, and to obtain this representation would have a nonpartisan tax commission created on which teachers would be represented. They recommend a "small nonpartisan body," but insist that this same commission should include at least one representative of city schools and another of country schools.

Members of the organization insist that much of the proposed taxation legislation is detrimental to the schools in that it reduces the amount of money counties may raise, and that the schools will be the first to suffer from the cut.

It is said the recommendations of the committee generally are approved by the majority of the organization and that there is little doubt but that it will be adopted in toto.

Among other things recommended by the committee are: Retention of the present minimum salary law for teachers; opposition to any change in the teachers' retirement law; retention of 2.65 mill levy; retention of the fundamental principles of the present compulsory school attendance law; reclassification of present school laws of Ohio; compulsory revaluation of realty on basis of equity; enactment of reasonable tenure law.

Members of the legislature have felt for some time that they had a nice pleasant task cut out for themselves, but the recommendations of the teachers certainly have served to further complicate matters.

While there has not been any organized opposition to the teachers' minimum wage bill, practically everyone agreeing that they earn all they get, there is opposition to some other features of the proposed program. For instance, the grange is fighting for a tax limitation, which the teachers do not want and which is just as unpopular with the Good Roads federation and automobile clubs. In fact, most of the financial and taxation legislation advocated by the teachers is fought by the grange and is an endorsement of the stand taken by road and automobile organizations.

Doctor Howard S. MacAyeal, state director of welfare, is all peeved because of a story printed this week in which an alleged building program of his department was given out. MacAyeal denies that there is any extensive building program even in the making, and scouts the idea of a plan for a new institution for feeble-minded.

In a statement MacAyeal declares there has been no discussion of a plan for the building of such an institution and declares such a statement is ridiculous in view of the fact that the state has not even acquired a site for such a hospital. He says further that he has been informed by Governor Davis that he will purchase no such site so near the close of his term of office.

Commenting on the possibility of such an institution on the farm near Grafton recently purchased by the state, he said:

"In regard to the Grafton site—it was never intended for feeble-minded, and will never be used for that branch. It is to be an annex to the Cleveland state hospital. According to plans so far developed for Grafton, we are going to do three things: First, build a siding into the property from the main line of the Big Four railway; second, develop the water supply, and, third, put the buildings already on the farm in shape for occupancy, and erect two units for patients from the Cleveland state hospital."

The Grafton institution when fully developed will be a separate institution for insane, MacAyeal said.

The members of both houses of the legislature seem to have fallen into Governor-elect Donahay's plan for retrenchment, according to rumors now afloat in Columbus.

Chairmen of the finance committees of both houses found themselves on the carpet last summer when W. S. Feader and R. S. Walton, Columbus attorneys, brought proceedings to compel them to pay back to the state several hundred dollars drawn as per diem charges for attending meetings of the state board of control. They were compelled to pay back the money drawn as expenses.

There is a movement among legislators which may result in Columbus furnishing both chairmen of the assembly's finance committees. Not the least of the factors entering into the situation is that having to do with the membership of the chairmen on state emergency and control boards, which are in session weekly throughout the year. Representative William C. Wendt of Columbus is in line for the place in the house, having been a member of the finance committee at the last session. In the senate J. F. Atwood has strong backing, and if the plan now under consideration fructifies, the house and senate committee will be headed by them.

It is seldom that the supreme court hands down a decision that is highly gratifying to the officials of one county and a matter of complete indifference to the officials of other counties, yet such a decision was handed down this week.

The county auditor of Franklin county recently was enjoined by the Canada Life Assurance company from certifying to the treasurer for collection of taxes on bonds deposited by the company with the state department of insurance. The law requires that any foreign insurance corporation operating in Ohio must deposit with the state department of insurance bonds and securities to secure its policy holders in the state.

In 1902 the legislature passed a law exempting such bonds from taxation and in 1918 this law was ruled unconstitutional by the attorney general. Franklin county auditor was promptly restrained from collection, in a suit filed by the Canada Life Assurance company. The injunction was upheld by the court of appeals and was knocked out this week by the court of last resort. The refusal of the court to hold these bonds exempt means several thousand dollars annually to the state and Franklin county, but here is the feature that makes it mean practically nothing to other counties: The insurance department is located in Franklin county, at the state capital, and this county only will receive the county's percentage of the taxes, although all will benefit in a lesser degree in that the state rate will be reduced just that much by the addition to the state duplicate.

That county commissioners for whom successors were elected last month will hold on for at least a few weeks longer than the term prescribed by law was indicated when Secretary of State Harvey C. Smith announced he will not issue commissions to the newly-elected county commissioners.

The ruling of the secretary of state followed the granting of a temporary injunction allowed last week by the Franklin county common pleas court restraining him from issuing a commission to Milton W. Westlake, elected to succeed John Scott as commissioner of Franklin county. The injunction was allowed on the ground that the election was not valid, in that the law providing for it is unconstitutional. Rather it was allowed because the court did not have time to investigate the contention to this effect presented by Scott and the court held no harm would come of taking time to investigate, while great harm would come if Westlake were seated illegally. The law provides that the old commissioner shall act until his successor is elected and qualified, and until the new man qualifies all acts of the commissioners with the old member sitting will be legal, while if a man were illegally seated, it is said the acts of the board might be invalid.

The case will be heard on its merits this week, but the new commissioners ordinarily would take their seats Monday, so that the old members are bound to hold over for at least a while.

The state of Ohio is directly affected by a reorganization of the immigration service, which has just been decided upon, to become effective Jan. 1. A letter from Commissioner General of Immigration Husband to Senator Pomerene outlining the plan says:

"The northern part of Ohio, including stations at Cleveland and Toledo, should be included in a border district, and for that reason the territory from Sandusky to the eastern part of Lake Ontario is embraced in a separate district with Buffalo, which is near the geographic center, as headquarters, while the northwestern part of Ohio, with the substitution of Toledo, is merged into the Detroit district.

"The new district, of which Cincinnati will become the headquarters, includes parts of the states of Ohio, Indiana, Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky, Cincinnati being selected as headquarters because of its central location in the territory described."

Senator-elect Peas has advised Russell A. Gravitt, an overseas veteran and vocational student at Ohio State university, that he can not accede to the latter's request that he shall oppose a reduction in the number of noncommissioned officers of the army.

FORD BUYS 28,000 ACRES COAL LAND

Detroit, Dec. 29.—Henry Ford today virtually completed negotiations for the purchase of 28,000 acres of the largest coal producing country in Kentucky, according to information received from New York.

The property is that of the Pond Creek Coal company located in Pike county. Ford will pay $10,000,000 for the coal field, it was said. By making the purchase which is of the assets of the Pond Creek company, Ford allowed to lapse the option he bought a month ago on the Elk Horn coal company land which is not far away.

The option will not lapse in its entirety, however, according to the information, for the better portions of the Elk Horn land will be brought under Ford's control in the new deal.

THEATRES

Show Arctic Film Here
"Nanook of the North," the remarkable Pathé feature showing at the High school auditorium tonight and tomorrow, is the first motion picture to depict the actual life of the Eskimo, it being a truthful and vivid story of Father and Mother Eskimo and all the little Eskimos at home.

It was made for Kevinon Freres by Robert J. Flaherty, engineer and explorer on the Sir William Mackenzie expeditions in the barren lands of the northeast coast of Hudson Bay, and described by him in published records of the American Geographical society.

Between 1912 and 1918, Mr. Flaherty made five expeditions, covering the Ungava Peninsula and parts of Baffin Land, guided by Eskimos. He accompanied them as they traveled with their families winter and summer, subsisting wholly upon their catches of fish, seals and walrus, sheltered by their tents of skins in summer and their snow igloos in winter, built at the end of a day of dog sledging travel, the spirit thermometers registering 54 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit.

All these activities are shown in "Nanook of the North," which Mr. Flaherty photographed, developed, printed and projected in the frozen barren North.

CLOVER AND GRASS SEED MIXTURE PROVES BEST

A mixture of grass seed and clover in seedings intended for hay or pasture has proved best in tests made on the county and district experimental farms according to C. M. Montgomery, chief of the Experiment Station's Farm Management department in charge of these farms.

For several years a mixture of six pounds of red clover, two of alsike, two of alfalfa and four of timothy has been seeded on the wheat grounds at two sowings in the spring.

If the seeding is made with oats the red clover seed may be reduced one pound and the alfalfa increased that amount as on most of the farms alfalfa makes a better stand with oats than with wheat.

In these experiments, waiting until the land gets dry and harrowing in the seed, has not generally been as successful as sowing early. The land is often too wet to harrow until the wheat gets too large for good results in grass seeding.

The mixture if seeded in good time insures a crop even though one variety fails as on the Hamilton County Experiment farm, 1921, when "Wilt" completely killed out the red clover; the timothy, alsike, and alfalfa came on and a good crop of mixed hay was cut. With a liberal amount of alfalfa in the mixture two or three crops of hay per annum have been harvested from some of the farms.

Linger Longer Club

Mrs. F. F. Moore won the honors at cards and Harry Kaufman was awarded the consolation honors when the members of the Linger Longer club were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Omar Adams, at their home, Cleveland Ave., Thursday night.

At the luncheon table was discovered a huge snowball as the center piece from which ribbons were extended. Each guest was instructed to pull the string adjoining the piece and a gift concealed within the snowball was attached to the other end of the ribbon. Christmas novelties were used in the decorations.

Needlecraft Club

Meeting Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Amos Entrikey, Garfield avenue, members of the Needlecraft club enjoyed an informal social time with needlework and visiting occupying the hours. A Christmas box was opened, Mrs. Lyman Whiteleather was an invited guest.

Plans were made for a party Wednesday evening, Jan. 3, at the home of Mrs. Ernest Hoobler, Ohio ave., at which the members will entertain their husbands. A regular meeting in two weeks will be with Mrs. Eva Murry, Maple st.

Mothers Club Entertainers

One of the most enjoyable social events held by the Salem Mothers club was that Thursday evening at the community house, Depot st., where the members entertained their husbands and children.

A supper was served. The men in the party were interested in pool and games in charge of Miss Mary Holerman, recreational director, amused the children. Each child received a treat of candy, popcorn and apples and a toy.

A business meeting of the club will be in one week.

Elks Christmas Dance

The Christmas dance of Salem lodge No. 305, B. P. O. E., Thursday evening at the home was a noteworthy social function of the holiday week, in which some 200 people participated, including guests from Canton, East Liverpool and Youngstown. Appropriate decorations to the season adorned the hall room. Cave's orchestra, Sharon, Pa., furnished the music.

Ellsworth Avenue Club

An informal social time and needlework engaged attention at an assembly of Ellsworth Avenue club members Thursday afternoon at which Mrs. Curtis Walker was hostess at her home, Ellsworth rd. When the members meet in two weeks they will be guests of Mrs. Howard Ingram, Ellsworth rd.

Mrs. Windle Hostess

Bridge formed entertainment when Mrs. Leo Windle was hostess to her club associates Thursday afternoon at her home, Ellsworth ave. Mrs. Ralph Gee, Pittsburg, was an out of town guest. Mrs. Herbert Zimmerman, Tenth st., will receive the members in two weeks.

Garnet Club

A Christmas box added interest at a gathering of members of the Garnet club Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Eunice Green, Lisbon rd. Fancypwork was the chief diversion. A meeting in one month will be with Mrs. James Rea, Lincoln ave.

At Pow Home

Mrs. Anna Hillis, Cleveland, is spending a few days with Mrs. Alice C. Pow, Broadway, and Thursday a group of women who were Mrs. Hillis' former club associates were luncheon guests at the Pow home.

Entertained At Youngstown
Mrs. K. L. Webster entertained her club associates at a luncheon at Burt's in Youngstown Thursday after which the guests were interested in "600."

Miss Anne Miller has returned to New York city after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. U. Miller, East Fourth st.

Mrs. Robert Curtis, Ellsworth ave., as gone to New Castle, Pa., to spend a few years with her daughter, Mrs. L. Snyder.

Misses Agnes Carey and Mary Hicks of Youngstown are the guests of Miss Lucille Hutcheson, East High.

Mrs. E. M. Wilson, Cleveland ave., who has been ill of quinsy, is reported to be improved.

Miss Eleanor Lodge, Hawley ave., is very ill of inflammatory rheumatism.

Redington-Haroff

The marriage of Miss Mildred Redington and Ray Haroff, both of this city, performed Thursday by Rev. D. E. Scott, of the Methodist church at Lisbon, came as a surprise to their friends and relatives here.

Mrs. Haroff is the daughter of Mrs. L. D. Clements and she has charge of the green stamp department at the Spring-Holzwarth store. Mr. Haroff, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Haroff, Garfield ave., is employed at the Salem Rubber company plant. For the present the young couple are residing with the groom's parents, at 246 Garfield ave.

Birthday Gathering

A number of her girl friends helped Miss Margaret Atkinson celebrate her birthday anniversary when they called at her home East Fourth st., Thursday in honor of the occasion. Miss Virginia Wood, of Philadelphia, who is visiting at the Atkinson home, was an out of town guest.

Luncheon was served and favors in the form of American Beauty roses filled with candy were given.

Marriage Licenses

A marriage license was granted Friday to John S. Hollinger and Gladys Lepper, both of Salem and they were married by Rev. G. W. Beaver.

License was issued today to Ray R. Haroff and Mildred Redington also of Salem, and they were married by Rev. David Scott of the Methodist church, Lisbon.

College Students Dance

Visiting college students held a dance at the American Legion hall, at Columbiana, Thursday night which interested a number of Salemites. The Peerless Pep orchestra of Salem played. Novelties and favors furnished extra entertainment, while the ball room was decorated suitably for the holiday season.

Mrs. Ladd Hostess

Mrs. J. J. Ladd was hostess to Mrs. S. J. Santee's class of the Friends church Thursday afternoon at her home in Danvers. The hours were devoted to fancywork and general social diversions.

An Oyster Supper

A company of 30 people gathered at the home of Miss Mary Campbell, Goshen rd., Thursday evening and enjoyed an oyster supper. The guests brought the edibles for the meal.

M-M Club

Associates of the M-M club were guests at a luncheon Thursday given by Miss Friscilla Miskomina, 1034 High st. Covers were laid for 10. The hours were enjoyed at visiting.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Ellen Mayerhoefer
The death of Mrs. Ellen Mayerhoefer of Provincetown, Mass., on Dec. 22 has been announced but particulars were not given.

Mrs. Mayerhoefer was the eldest of seven children of John and Angeline Brown Deming. Those of the immediate family surviving Mrs. Mayerhoefer are her daughter, Estelle, two brothers, Wm. L. and Frank B. Deming, and two sisters, Mrs. W. W. Mulford of Salem and Miss Eva B. Deming of New York.

Funeral services were held at the home in Provincetown, Dec. 24. The body was cremated by request of the deceased. Cremation took place in Boston, Dec. 26.

Kenneth Stack
Kenneth, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stack, died at the family home near Canfield at 7:50 p. m. Thursday following an illness of measles.

The boy was one of three children in the home suffering with measles and was thought to be recovering when he suffered a relapse.

He is survived by his parents and several brothers and sisters.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

William Wilderson
William Wilderson, 61, Columbian, died of pneumonia at 9 p. m. Thursday at the home of his sister, Mrs. Ella McFadden, there. He had always lived in the vicinity of Columbian.

LEETONIA NEWS

Prof. W. Shupp principal of the Leetonia High school and coach of the ball team, was presented a gold watch by the Athletic association this week as a token of the esteem in which he is held among the pupils.

Miss Sue Bixler received the announcement of the marriage of her nephew, G. A. Duff, of McKeesport, Pa. and Miss Evelyn Eleanor Kirkland of West Springfield, Pa. Mr. Duff is well known from frequent visits to his aunts here. His parents were former residents of Leetonia.

Clyde Sipe has returned to Youngstown after a visit with his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Koch.

Mrs. C. J. Halverstadt and daughter Miss Ersol, who are ill of scarlet fever are reported to be getting along well.

Miss Loretta Faloon spent Sunday in the home of her parents in Washingtonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fenstermaker of East Palestine were recent visitors of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Fenstermaker.

Jack McDonald returned to Evans City at the conclusion of a visit to his home here.

Miss Edith Aiken, a teacher in the Cleveland school, is enjoying her vacation in Leetonia with her mother, Mrs. John Aiken.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Blattman returned to their home here Tuesday from New Castle where they visited Mrs. Blattman's mother, Mrs. William Woods.

Mrs. W. W. Long is spending several weeks in the home of her niece, Mrs. Harry Aiken of New Brighton.

Edward Royer, who spent several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Royer, returned to his work at Columbus Tuesday.

Mrs. Howard Holloway opened her home to members of the Priscilla Club of Columbiana Thursday evening. One of the special pleasures of the evening was the exchange of holiday gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Zimmerman recently entertained the following guests at dinner: Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Neigh of Lisbon; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rolman and children of Youngstown; and Mrs. Emma Chandler and daughter Miss Florence of Leetonia.

Rev. Thomas Riese of Harrisburg, Pa., joined Mrs. Riese, who has spent several weeks in the home of her mother Mrs. Mary Nold. After a visit here they returned to their home in Harrisburg.

Howard Nold has returned to his home in Philadelphia, after a short visit with his mother and sister, Mrs. Mary Nold and daughter, Miss Myrtle.

Teddy Brinker, who has been in California for some time, returned to his home near Leetonia within the week.

Mrs. Mary A. Moyer had for her guest at a holiday dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Moyer of Poland; Mrs. Elizabeth Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Van Reynolds of Leetonia.

ADVOCATE SMALL TAX COMMISSION

Columbus, Dec. 29. — The representative assembly of the Ohio State Teachers' Association, meeting here Thursday, authorized its legislative committee to appear before the next legislature with a recommendation that a small non-partisan tax commission be created, "one member of which shall be a representative of the public school interests of the state."

Bitter opposition of a minority faction, which held that a demand for representation on a tax commission was unheard of and that no such request ever had been made by any organization, was partially successful.

The recommendation as originally drawn called for two representatives if the tax commission were composed of seven or more members.

The assembly finally decided to be content with one.

Opposition to one other clause in the legislative program, which developed among rural delegates met with more success. This clause calling for compulsory revaluation of realty on the basis of equity was tabled after representatives from country districts pointed out that the measure was opposed to the position taken by the grange and other farmer organizations on the question.

Recommendations passed with little or no opposition called for.

Retention of the present minimum salary law.

Opposition to any change in the teachers' retirement law.

Retention of fundamental principles of the compulsory attendance law.

Enactment of a law for the reclassification of present school laws.

Enactment of a reasonable tenure law.

NEED 20 MILLION MORE FOR MAELS

Washington, Dec. 22.—The annual supply bill for upkeep and operation of the government postal service, as reported to the house today, carries a total of $584,614,191, or about $20,000,000 more than last year, but Chairman Slep of the sub-committee which drafted it declared the service promised soon to stand on its own feet.

Estimated receipts for the first six months of the current fiscal year indicated, the report said, that the annual deficit would be approximately $31,000,000, while revenues for the next fiscal year point to a deficit of not more than $1,000,000. In making up the bill, the sub-committee slashed the budget figures by $5,562,000.

The sum of $1,500,000 is provided for the air mail service, which is $400,000 less than last year.

This amount, the committee said, would maintain the present day flying service.

SNOW AND SLEET DO MUCH DAMAGE

High Wind And Sudden Drop In Temperature Are Disastrous.

Columbus, Dec. 29.—Snow and sleet storms accompanied by high winds and a sudden drop in temperature Thursday caused hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of damage in Ohio and demoralized wire communication and interurban service in some sections.

Most serious damage was done in the northern half of the state where snow and sleet were more severe than in the southern half, but high winds and at least light snowfalls prevailed in all sections.

Wire communications between Toledo, Cleveland and other lake points was completely interrupted during a portion of the day due to the toppling of thousands of poles and electric lines operated on curtailed schedules. Only one car on the Lake Shore electric line succeeded in making the trip between Cleveland and Toledo Thursday morning. Damage to the Ohio Telephone company in the Cleveland district was estimated at more than $300,000 by officials.

Roads and streets in the northern section were glazed with ice and snow and numerous traffic mishaps resulted. In Cleveland alone, eight persons were injured by skidding automobiles and falls on icy sidewalks.

Damage by the wind and sleet was reported from Kenton, Bucyrus, Newark, Upper Sandusky and many other cities.

FINE MEAT SCRAPS MAKE BEST MASH

Meat scraps in the home-mixed mash for poultry should be ground fine to prevent waste and to insure uniform distribution to all individuals of the flock, say poultrymen at the Ohio Experiment station.

The coarser meat scraps do not mix uniformly with the other ground feeds so the birds pick over the mash for the particles of meat, causing much waste and what is worse permitting a few birds to get more than is good for them while the others are unable to get what they need. After fresh supply of mash is picked over it is difficult to get the mash consumption required for profitable egg production.

If the other mash ingredients are of proper texture the final mixture will be a uniform product and palatable. To make a mash of this kind standard wheat middlings is preferable to coarse bran and coarsely ground oats or alfalfa.

Many dealers do not carry the fine meat scraps in stock, but it can be obtained from them by special order at the same price as the coarse. When the feed dealer orders meat scraps the coarse product is sent unless the fine meat scraps is specified.

Irrigation in South Africa.

The biggest irrigation works in South Africa and second only in the whole of Africa to the Assuan dam on the Nile, has just been completed. The works, known as the Lake Mentz conservation works, are located in the Sunday's River valley near Port Elizabeth. The union government financed the undertaking to the extent of over $2,500,000 in the interest of land settlement and to further the development of the agricultural resources of the union. The dam impounds 25,700,000,000 gallons of water and the area submerged is 4,200 acres. Subsidiary works lower down the Sunday's river, constructed by private enterprise at a cost of $3,000,000 consist of three diversion weirs and canals extending over 400 miles. The scheme aims at intensive cultivation, under a permanent water supply, of an area of over 10,000 acres.
